

I met Angela and Joyce at a time when I was very stressed about leaving my pup when he was only a few weeks post knee surgery. We had a recent bad experience with another sitter so I was very concerned to find someone we could trust to follow his post-surgery instructions. Joyce and Angela had a very calming presence and I felt very reassured that Angela was going to provide excellent care for our pup while staying in our home.

During our meeting, Angela asked questions and was very determined to understand and follow all our post-surgery instructions. She did everything exactly as instructed! Our dog also has separation anxiety and has had a hard time adjusting back to his crate after our recent move to OR. Angela and I talked about this and she obviously worked with him because when we returned he was much better adjusted to his crate. Due to surgery, our dog was 100% leash restricted and unable to take walks. Angela sat outside regularly to help him break up his day and relax in the sun. We are so thrilled to have found her!

While on our trip, Angela sent some pics of my pup and was always responsive when I contacted her. I was curious to see some pics, but never felt the need to make sure he was ok. Joyce also stopped by to check up on our pup and followed up with me to make sure we were enjoying our trip and not worrying about him. We also plan to board with them in the future when our dog is healed and can be around other dogs. It's no greater feeling to be away on a trip and be able to relax knowing that our pup is truly being cared for!

When we returned home, it was obvious that our pup had a great time with Angela. We have used several pet sitters over the years and have never felt so reassured when we returned. Angela left our house spotless! We had company coming the following weekend and she had washed all her sheets and towels. She had no idea what a help that would be. We have used Angela several more times now and we are truly spoiled to have found someone that is so trustworthy and responsible!
